What happened to ICOCNEWS.COM

There are two sad stories about the fate of www.icocnews.com. The company I used for domain services (www.registerfly.com) went down in flames in one of the largest internet fiasco's to date. You can read more about it in this Business Week article.

Even though the domain was lost to me, folks could still get to the site via www.leebase.com/icocnews -- until my web host provider www.ipowerweb.com went from being very reliable to extremely unreliable. I have moved to a new hosting company (www.lunarpages.com) and in time I hope to be able to restore the ICOCNEWS.COM content.

I have been out of the ICOC for over 5 years now and I no longer put new content on the site. Still, it has value as a historical record and I look forward to putting that content back up.
